Mike Walker's "Lasting Impressions" show proves that there's nothing more entertaining than a gifted impressionist! An incredibly talented mimic, Walker brings his repertoire of more than fifty celebrities to one stage. He also expertly performs his own music in this incredibly entertaining show. Watch him channel a variety of singers, including Ray Charles, Willie Nelson, Justin Bieber, Journey, Tina Turner, Rod Stewart and Elvis Presley. Mike has entertained hundreds of thousands of people throughout his career. His peers have dubbed him as "The man with the Golden Voice". Even some of the legends in the business are awed by his vocal quality. Close your eyes and get lost as one famous singer after another takes over Mike's voice! If you enjoy songs from a variety of singers, don't miss "Lasting Impressions". You'll get all your favorites in one sensational performer!

EXTREME RANCH RODEO

ORIGINS OF THE RANCH RODEO

Ranch Rodeo is an event that was re-created a number of years ago to return to the roots of rodeo when the first event was established in 1882. The event widely hailed as the first rodeo was held in North Platte, Nebraska and was produced by William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill). Buffalo Bill incorporated trick riding and a number of other entertaining additions to the rodeo.

The competition was about the ranches and who could be awarded the prize of being the best ranch in the rodeo. Ranch-versus-ranch contests gradually sprang up, and events were created that simulated what the ranch cowboys did for work each day on the ranch.

These rodeos were a gathering of ranch families and became a social function that was not only a competition but a time of visiting with each other and sharing their lives. As time went on rodeo evolved and became a showcase of each individual cowboy rather than the team concept or ranch-versus ranch competitions that were originally held. Modern day Ranch Rodeo is a return to those times of sharing and friendly competition. Here are descriptions of just a few of the events you don't want to miss!

Team Branding

Ownership of cattle has been determined by the creation of brands for the ranches for many years. These brands indicate the ownership of the animal and assist in identifying those cattle that have strayed much the same for over 100 years. It is an event that brings ranches together to brand the spring calves and yearlings and doctor those that need it. This event is a timed event and all of the cowboys participating have to show their skills in riding, roping, sorting and handling the cattle. For this event paint or flour is used on the animals and the fastest time branding two calves wins.

Wild Cow Milking

Wild cow milking is a timed event that begins when a cow is turned loose into the arena. The team will try to rope the cow, "mug" her, (control her by hand, particularly the head), and milk her until she gets a small amount of milk. The team will then tie the cow to a post and the milking will be completed, or when the cow has been milked and one member of the team runs with the bottle to a designated area in the arena. The time to milch the cow must be a certain amount of time in the bottle. For example, in many wild cow milking events there must be enough milk in the bottle that at least one drop runs out when the bottle is turned upside down. The team that can rope, mug, and milk their cow with the fastest time wins.

Ranch Bronc Riding

Ranch bronc riding is a ride or ride out event where a rider tries to stay on a bronc for a set amount of time. The time is determined by the event and the time to dismount. The event is judged usually by two judges, with the highest score determining the winner. Competitors ride the broncs with ranch saddles, as opposed to specialized "mudslide broncs" and/or "ranch style" saddles in other types of rodeos. The ranch bronc riding event is unique in ranch rodeos for a couple of reasons: 1) It is the only event where one team member competes alone, 2) It is the only judged event. The ranch bronc riding event might be included as one of the events in the overall ranch rodeo, or it may be held as a stand-alone event where the competing individual is competing only for himself, and not as part of a team.

Team Trailer Loading

Ranch rodeo trailer loading is how working ranch cowboys get the animal loaded into a trailer directly from the pasture. The animal may need to be loaded to transport to a new pasture or for veterinary care.

Rawhide Race

2 Team members participate in this event. One member being the puller on horseback and one member being the rider on the rawhide (SLED). Teams must run up the arena and around the barrel and back across the start line. If rider falls off they may get back on and continue riding. If team knocks over the barrel they will receive a 5 second penalty added to their time. The team with the fastest time wins.

Tuesday

Lanky

A yellow rectangular frame with a black dashed border. At the top, there is a cluster of colorful balloons (red, blue, green, yellow, orange) of various sizes. Below the balloons, the word "Lanky" is written in a large, black, serif font. Under the word, there are four smaller images: a close-up of a clown's face with a red nose and a wide smile, a clown in a colorful costume sitting on the ground, a clown in a costume riding a small green vehicle, and a clown in a costume riding a bicycle. The background of the entire frame is yellow.

He's whacky, he's goofy, he's straight up hilarious! Lanky will have your guests in stitches the moment they meet him. In addition to Lanky's silliness, his presentation includes balloons animals, stilt walking, face painting and lots and lots of fun. Your fair will never be the same when Lanky is on the scene!
